An Unexpected Boomerang

Martin W. Littleton was talking at the Garden City Golf club about cross examination.

"I am a foe to harsh and overbearing cross examiners," he said, "and I wish they would all fare like Councilman Dash."

"Councilman Dash was the prosecutor in a case of alleged election fraud. His own election, a municipal one, had been all right, but in the recent state election he hoped to prove serious corruption."

"The councilman began to cross examine a voter named Washington White."

"Wash," he said, "have you got any fixed income?"

"What's that, sir? Wash asked. 'I don't quite understand the question, sir.'"

"Have you got any fixed income?" said the councilman. "That is to say, are there any set sums of money or appurtenances assured you on certain dates?"

"Oh, yes, sir," said Wash. "Yes, there is, sir."

"Oho," sneered the councilman, "you have got a fixed income, then, have you? Well, tell us what it is."

"You know yourself, sir," said Washington, reproachfully, "that every election day, just as sure as it comes around, you give me $2 and a ham."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians.

Plenty of It

At a church conference a speaker began a tirade against the universities and education, expressing thankfulness that he had never been corrupted by contact with a college.

After proceeding for a few minutes, the bishop, who was in the chair, interrupted with the question:

"Do I understand that Mr. X is thankful for his ignorance?"

"Well you," was the answer: "you can put it that way if you like."

"Well, all I have to say," said the prelate in sweet and musical tones—"all I have to say is that Mr. X has much to be thankful for."

HOW TO CURE STOMACH TROUBLE

The Common Cause is Lack of Blood—Therefore You Must Build Up the Blood

There is the most intimate relation between the condition of the blood and the activity of the stomach. The blood depends upon the stomach for a large part of its nourishment, while every act of digestion, from the time the food enters the stomach and is assimilated by the blood needs plenty of pure well-oxygenized blood. The muscles, glands and nerves of the stomach work only according to the quality of the blood.

The most common cause of indigestion is lack of rich, red blood. Not only does impure blood weaken the muscles of the stomach, but it lessens the product of the glands of the intestines and stomach, which furnish the digestive fluids. No Ling will more promptly cure indigestion than plenty of pure blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the safest and most certain blood-builder. A thorough trial of these pills gives a hearty appetite, perfect digestion, strength and health. Here is proof of the value of these pills in cases of indigestion. Mrs. Alfred Austin, Verna, Ont., says:—"My system became run-down and my stomach very weak. I had no desire for food and what I did take caused me great distress, and did not afford me nourishment, and I was gradually growing weaker, and could scarcely do any work at all. I did not sleep soundly at night and would wake up not at all refreshed and with a feeling of dread. Some years previously I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with much benefit and this decided me to again try them. My confidence was not misplaced, as by the time I had used six boxes I was again feeling quite well."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by sending to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Guest—And who is the distinguished personage in oil over the mantle?

The Owner—That's my great-grandfather, Hopping Hinkle, painted by Kaloosky. He was one of the mob of patriots who dumped the boatload of storage eggs into the harbor.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Impossible

"There goes that Mrs. Gadabout. Do you know, I've heard that her poor husband is absolutely tied to her apron strings."

"Nonsense! I don't believe she's had an apron on since they've been married."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Cure Children's Colds By External Treatment

Mothers Will Find Nothing so Speedily and Reliably as Old-Time "Nerviline"

It's really a shame to upset a young child's stomach by internal dosing, when external treatment will so promptly break up a cold.

When your boy comes in after play with his feet soaking wet, his throat hoarse and sore, his little chest tight and congested, just apply Nerviline. Give him a vigorous rubbing over his throat, and put lots of Nerviline on his chest and rub it right in. To make Nerviline penetrate more quickly cover his chest and throat with a hot flannel bandage. This treatment WON'T FAIL. Your boy will be feeling better in half an hour and you will have the satisfaction of knowing you have ward off perhaps a cold, or gripe, or illness that might have laid him up.

Nerviline is mighty good for preventing colds and for breaking up a bad one, too. For general family use it cures all sorts of external aches and pains—you simply can't beat it. Try it for earache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, lame back, rheumatism, or lumbago. Wherever there is congestion, inflammation or pain in the joints or muscles, Nerviline will cure mighty quick. The large 50c family size bottle is so economical, so useful, it should be in every home. There is also a small 25c size. Dealers anywhere sell Nerviline.

Incredible

"I wouldn't have believed it of her."

"Neither would I. Jane is the last girl in the world I would have thought such a thing of."

"She doesn't seem like that sort of person."

"Indeed, she doesn't. I'd have taken my oath that she wouldn't do such a thing."

"Oh, you never can tell. I've known girls who have been to college to do worse things."

"Well, what did Jane do, anyway?"

"What did she do? She led a heart when Agnes was sitting there with a whole handful of clubs."—Detroit Free Press.

"What are you crying for now?"

"Sister threw some cider on me."

"Well, that didn't hurt you, did it?"

"Yes, ma'am; it was hard cider."—Buffalo Express.

They Cleanse While They Cure—The vegetable compounds of which Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are composed, mainly dandelion and mandrake, clear the stomach and intestines of deleterious matter and restore the deranged organs to healthful action. Hence they are the best remedy for indigestion available today. A trial of them will establish the truth of this assertion and do more to convince the niggard than anything that can be written of these pills.

"Cruel and Unusual"

Miss Manchester—I admit that Mr. Gaysport is rather wild, but I'm going to marry him to reform him.

Miss Pickles—I don't think he's done anything bad enough to deserve that.

FOUND THE CAUSE THE REST WAS EASY

DODD'S KIDNEY PILL! QUICKLY CURED HIS KIDNEY DISEASE

How Hudson Marchbank, After Suffering for Five Years, Found Quick Relief and Permanent Cure in the Greatest of Canadian Remedies.

Marchbank, King's County, N.B.—(Special).—After suffering for five years from kidney disease, brought on by a strain, Hudson Marchbank, Esq., the well known farmer of this place, is again a strong, healthy man, and another grand cure for Dodd's Kidney Pills has been put on record. In an interview, Mr. Marchbank says:

"About five years ago I hurt my back from lifting, and it developed into kidney disease. My back pained me all the time, and I was very much troubled with headaches. My appetite was fitful; I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the mornings; I perspired freely and my perspiration had a disagreeable odor."

"I used liniments and plasters, but they did not do me any good, and as there were other symptoms that my kidneys were affected, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using two boxes, my back was completely cured, and my kidneys have not troubled me since."

When Mr. Marchbank decided that his kidneys were the cause of his troubles, the rest was easy. Almost any of his neighbors could tell him that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased kidneys.

Then They Quit

"What's the trouble here?"

"The bellboys are on a strike."

"Want more pay, I suppose?"

"No. A man came in a little while ago and asked to have Waldislaw Szebruszy paligned."

"Vy, fader, vatever makes you look so miserable? Ain't we marryin' Rebecca to young Oofenstein tomorrow and—"

"That's just the trouble, me boy. I hates 'avin' to give 'er away."—Tatler.

A Sad Calamity

A very sad calamity happened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. McBain of Cremona, on Friday afternoon last when their little daughter Marjorie, two and a half years of age, ate a quantity of matches which made her quite sick, and in spite of all that could be done the little life passed peacefully away during the night.

The body was laid to rest in the Carstairs Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, the Rev. J. Rex Brown performing the obsequies. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of all in their severe loss.—Carstairs Journal.

IF you have the speculative fever that is so rife all over the province think well before you invest, and then if you decide to do so be sure that you have your certificates for shares made out in small amounts, so that in case you have to unload, or become squeezed for a little of the filthy lucre, you can realize more quickly some of your holdings and if it is a good company in which you have invested you can hold the balance of your certificates without having to dispose of them all at once.

WE understand that there is a committee of ladies taking around a petition for signature for "votes for women." This petition should be largely signed, not because of the freakish actions of a large number of the English suffragettes but because the laws on our statute books are altogether too one sided and should give the women a chance to protect their rights in the home if for no other reason. Then, again, it might help, if they had the vote, to keep a saner balance between the two political parties which it is claimed we cannot do without and also help to rectify many of our social evils. Yes, so long as lovely woman does not become too masculine, and attends to her duties in feeding the brutes, it is right that she should have the vote.

THE promotion of oil companies all over the province is becoming a danger to the general public because of the large amount of speculation which is being done by the public at large, and because it is not likely that more than a third of the proposed wells will ever be sunk and also because most of them will no doubt be dusters. There should be some regulation by the government along lines that would control this evil and should be made so that until it is proved beyond doubt that oil exists in the different districts the number of companies should be limited. Which all means—be careful what you do, it is not all gold that glitters and there is many a slip twixt the cup and the lip.

Olds Puts One Over Didsbury

The baseball game on Friday night last between Olds and Didsbury on the home grounds caused a great deal of heart burning and gloom to the large number of fans present supporting the home team, and incidentally, of course, raising the spirits of the Olds supporters.

The game was a freak one right from the start when Stark with a magnificent drive to right field, with two men on bases, brought in two runs and then scored himself off a long low grounder. But then it was all off with the league leaders, and for four innings they went up in the air and did not get a look in, Olds scoring nine in the meantime. The locals then came down to earth again but it was too late to redeem the game although they played in better style than at any time throughout the former part of the game scoring two runs in the last three innings while Olds scored one.

Whitesides, the Didsbury left fielder, was out with a big league mitt on and made a few bright spots in an otherwise dark outlook for the home fans by his splendid catches, and Ralph Wilson also made a phenomenal back handed catch out on center field.

The game was replete with errors on both sides, although Olds perhaps made some of the worst.

An unfortunate error on Dowell's part lost Didsbury another score. He got to second on a drive by Knuffmurg which was close to the left foul line but which was a safe hit. The second baseman of the Olds team asked him what he was running for as the ball was foul and also some of the Olds supporters called it foul consequently Dowell left the base and was walking away when the ball was thrown to second and Dowell of course was out. The umpire had not called a foul. Herb. Liesemer also was the victim of circumstances. He knocked out a short drive on the right base line, the ball struck the base line bounded out a little and then went on the base line again as far as first, the runner reaching the base and the first baseman did not make any effort to get the ball because he thought it was a foul. The umpire called Liesemer out although according to the fans it was a fair ball.

The Olds bunch are a good lot of players and accepted the umpire's decisions in good spirit, while Didsbury lost quite a lot of time through protesting some of the decisions.

The Didsbury team are just as good as Olds but they need more practice and unless they get out and work they cannot expect to keep in the lead.

The Elections in Ontario

The Conservative government was returned to power in the provincial elections held in Ontario on Monday after one of the bitterest fights ever held in that province on the issue of "Abolish the bar."

The standing of the parties now is Conservatives 83, Liberals 26, Independents 2.

The Liberals gained 13 seats, Conservatives 9 and the Independents 2.

Sir James Whitney's majority in Dundas was reduced by nearly 500. Hon. Dr. Rheam, former Minister of public works, was defeated. N. W. Rowell, leader of the Liberals was almost defeated, his majority being only 98.

"Not yet, sir. One or two clients have called by appointment and are waiting to see him."

"He may not be well," said Parkes. "You had better ask Mr. Sunningley's clients to call again."

"Yes, sir."

The man withdrew. Parkes sank back in his chair with a sense of relief. If Sunningley did not come to the office today, he, Parkes, need not know about the secret which the black box contained. He would, in short, have a reprieve—he was very glad of a reprieve.

He went on examining his letters. He had not half done with them yet. It was possible there might be one from little Barbara; but no, she had not written. Where had she gone? Where was she? Had she any money? She had told him, when he called on her at Worthington-on-the-Hill, that she had plenty. But a country girl's ideas of plenty were, he felt sure, vague. In her own home, surrounded by her own friends, she would always have abundance. But where was she now?

His clerk came back again. "Mr. Sunningley has arrived, sir; I thought I'd mention it."

"All right, Dawson. Dawson, you needn't send Miss Justin until I ring. Tell her to get her letters through and then wait until I ring."

"I will do so, sir."

Dawson had scarcely left the room before Sunningley appeared. One glance at his face caused Parkes to turn deadly white. Sunningley shut the door, turned the key in the lock and came deliberately forward. He held the little black box in his hand; Parkes actually felt himself shaking. Sunningley put the box on the table where Parkes was sorting his letters.

"Yes, in God's name, what is it, Sunningley?"

"I have read everything in the box," was Sunningley's answer; "and, what is more, I have read a private letter which I found in a narrow drawer at the bottom of the box, and which I don't think little Barbara Chance discovered. Thank God she didn't discover it!"

"It is a mare's nest, of course," said Parkes, although he did not believe the words when he uttered them.

"It is a deuced bad business," was Sunningley's response.

"Eh, eh? What, what?"

"You had better read, then you will know."

"I don't want to. I was always fond of Chance, poor fellow."

"Ah, well, yes," said Sunningley. "Poor fellow, as you say. He always seemed to me a particularly upright man, particularly charming, too, a man of the world and yet a divine—curious mixture; but there are such people, and I should have singled him out as an example of such."

Parkes did not speak; his anxious eyes were fixed on Sunningley's face.

After a pause, Sunningley continued: "Chance has gone to his account."

PAINFUL AND SCALY PIMPLES

Like Boils. Worst on Face. Watery When Rubbed. Also Hands Cracked and Smarted. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Main St., Eye-Brow, Sask.—"I was bothered with small pimples similar to little boils for four or five years. They were all over me but worst on my face. Of course they gave me a bad appearance. The pimples were both painful and itchy so I scratched till quite large sores would be the result and they seemed to be very watery after I rubbed them to a sore. My face was very scarred during the time it was sore."

"I was troubled with sore hands most all winter for two years. They kept cracked till they would be bleeding, and they smarted and were so sore I could hardly bear to get them wet."

"Upon seeing Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised I thought there would be no harm in trying them so I started with a small sample. I purchased a full-sized cake of Cuticura Soap also a box of Cuticura Ointment and before I had quite finished this I saw I was lots better so the second cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment was purchased. But little was used when I was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Wm. Dickson, May 23, 1913.

For treating poor complexion, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have been the world's favorites for more than a generation. God knows he carried a heavy burden. A question now arises—It is this—what is to be done with the girl?

"Sunningley, I have been thinking it over. The child has a little money, surely her rightful inheritance. Her father insured his life for her—two thousand pounds—not much, but a little. Then there was her mother's small fortune. After paying the necessary death duties which I thought you and Dean Chance arranged to meet—however, we need not talk about that just now; the girl ought to have about one hundred and fifty pounds a year. On that sum she need not starve. Some day a good man will fall in love with so sweet a girl, and she can marry; many a girl has married on as little. She can manage; I think so, don't you?"

"I haven't the least doubt that she will manage," said Sunningley, "but, of course," he added, "she cannot possibly touch that money."

"What do you mean?"

"Just what I say. She cannot touch it. Read the letters, and you will agree with me."

Parkes felt himself huddling down into the depths of his chair. He had a most curious sensation, as though a number of years had passed over his head, as though he were feeling the weight of his years and could not raise himself to his normal height. He hardly knew what to do.

Sunningley went to the door to answer a knock; he opened the door a little way and had a conversation with the managing clerk.

"Say that my partner and I are specially engaged and can't see anyone." He then locked the door and came back.

"Parkes," he said, "I am sorry for you, but more sorry for myself, and more sorry for the child. The child will be my care if I can find her. You and I, Parkes, have to face this thing. There is danger, danger for the child. Read the letters."

"Now?" said Parkes?

"Well, of course; that child read them all alone in the dead of night. They affected the memory of her father; they affected—but you will know when you have read them. Surely you can stand reading them in broad daylight."

"Sunningley, can we do nothing for her?"

"Read the letters, and then we will talk about what we can do."

As Sunningley spoke, he opened the box and put the first little packet of letters before his partner. "There," he said, "you're a sharp man of business, you will soon see the drift of the thing."

Parkes began to read; Sunningley waited. Once the lawyer began his task, he got absorbed; soon he was deeply interested. As he finished each little pile of letters he pushed it back to Sunningley, who strapped it up neatly once more and gave him the next pile to peruse. By and by he had read everything except the letter which was found in the thin drawer at the bottom of the box. Now Sunningley touched a spring, opened the drawer, and gave him the last letter. This letter caused the partners to look each at the other.

"Well?" said Sunningley.

"My God, Sunningley! you are right."

"You could not say anything else, could you?" was Sunningley's response.

"Nothing. That poor child! It is scarcely likely that she has returned to Worthington-on-the-Hill."

"Our business," said Sunningley, "is to discover her."

"It is my impression that she has very little money," was Parkes' remark.

"We must take steps to discover her without delay," said the other.

"Yes," said Parkes.

"Meanwhile," continued Sunningley, "these terrible letters, we must think them over. It is the most downright terrible work that was ever put into the hands of men like ourselves; we've always kept clear of that sort of thing, haven't we?"

"We have."

"The partners talked for a little longer, then the elder man went out."

CHAPTER IV.

When Barbara Chance left the consequential offices of Messrs. Parkes and Sunningley, she turned suddenly down a small lane and found herself the next minute in a little square, which was more or less hidden from the public view. This square was occupied by barristers and by a few solicitors; some old-fashioned trees stood in its midst. It was quiet here, the noisy traffic did not reach it. Barbara was glad of this, for from the quiet country to the great bustle of London was such a complete change to her, that she felt reeling and could scarcely, for a time at least, contain herself. While the clerk at Parkes' and Sunningley's was searching for this young girl she was herself pacing quietly up and down in Allchurch square. She knew nothing whatever of this quaint little place, her finding it was the merest chance. For a moment or two she was certainly the only woman in the square. The men who passed in and out were "wig-and-gown" men, men also who had "taken silk," but no women seemed to have anything to do with Allchurch square. More than one barrister stared at the girl, noticed the remarkable attractiveness of her small face, and even turned to glance at her again, wondering which lawyer's clerk she was waiting for, why she had come thus in the middle of the day to disturb the clerk at his duties.

Barbara, however, had her thoughts very far away; no body except her father filled her mind. She wanted to put things straight for him, she felt that she was doing so, and that nothing else greatly mattered. Having, however, gone through her agony, she had at that moment a sensation of almost pleasure. A load had been lifted from her heart, she could breathe once again. Then she thought over her own future; not, however, clearly, nor even every steadily. She had given up her inheritance, and she had said good-bye to the home of her life and to the friends of her life for ever. She must not think of Ralph. It hurt her to think of Ralph. It went to her heart like a sharp knife. She was glad he was out of England, he could never, never have anything to do with her in the future. When he came back he would forget her and he could marry Margot, and Margot was rich and would bring wealth to add to his wealth. Oh yes, oh yes! he could never marry little Barbara Chance, never, never, never!

The tears dropped from her eyes. But in the meantime, what was she to do? She thought and thought. Suddenly an idea illuminated her mind.

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW Proved a Wise, Good Friend

A young woman found a wise, good friend in her mother-in-law, jokes notwithstanding. She writes:

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach, complexion was blotchy and yellow. After meals I often suffered sharp pains and would have to lie down. My mother often told me it was the coffee I drank at meals. But when I'd quite coffee I'd have a severe headache." (Tea contains the same poisonous drug, caffeine, as coffee.)

"While visiting my mother-in-law I remarked that she always made such good coffee, and asked her to tell me how. She laughed and told me it was easy to make good 'coffee' when you use Postum."

"I began to use Postum as soon as I got home, and now we have the same good 'coffee' (Postum) every day, and I have no more trouble. Indigestion is a thing of the past, and my complexion has cleared up beautifully."

"My grandmother suffered a great deal with her stomach. Her doctor told her to leave off coffee. She then took tea but that was just as bad."

"She finally was induced to try Postum which she has used for over a year. She travelled during the winter visiting, something she had not been able to do for years. She says she owes her present good health to Postum."

TEETHING BABIES

Teething time is usually a time of worry to mothers. It is usually accompanied by nervousness, stomach trouble and extreme fretfulness. The mother can avoid all this; she can have her baby pass through the dangerous teething time without pain or crossness. Baby's Own Tablets are the mother's greatest friend at this time. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, allay feverishness which usually accompanies the coming of new teeth, and in this way make teething easy. ## WORK IS PROGRESSING ON THE H. B. ROAD

THOUSANDS OF WORKINGMEN
WILL BE ENGAGED ON WORK
THIS SUMMER

The Line Will be Graded to a Point
110 Miles From Hudson's Bay by Fall—Line Passes Through Good
Farming Country in the North.

Nearly 1,000 men, the majority of them from Winnipeg, have been sent up to the scene of the construction work in connection with the Hudson Bay railway since the spring operations have started, according to Nathaniel K. Boyd, one of the contractors associated with the Hudson Bay construction company. According to Mr. Boyd, the company will put on from 1,500 to 2,000 more men this summer, so that when their maximum is reached they will have at least 3,000 men at work rushing the government railway to completion.

At the present time the company has three steam shovels working at The Pas and two at mile 110 from that point. This summer eight new engines will be put on the line. All of these were ordered some time ago, and all have been delivered with the exception of one, which is on its way from the manufacturing plant at Kingston, Ont., at the present time. It is expected to arrive next week, and then the company will have thirteen complete trains in operation on the Hudson Bay railway. About 100 Hart convertible cars have already been shipped up, and these added to the numerous box and flat cars already on the tracks makes an extensive equipment for a railway which is not yet doing business. There are also two passenger cars which are used in connection with a mixed train, which is being run every day from Le Pas to mile 110.

"We fully expect to have the rails projected to the first crossing of the Nelson river at Manitou rapids by fall," said Mr. Boyd. "This will mean that we can run a train from here to within 155 miles of the bay. We have supplies cached at a point 110 miles from the bay now. Up to this point camps are located every 10 miles. We cannot lay any track, however, past the Manitou falls owing to the fact that there is no bridge here yet."

According to Mr. Boyd the line will be graded to a point 110 miles from Hudson Bay by fall provided the labor market does not tighten up. At the present time the company is able to secure all the men they require, but this state of affairs has not always existed. No trouble is anticipated this year, however.

Mr. Boyd is loud in his praises of the country round about the railway line. There is some excellent farming country, he declares, beginning at mile 170, and running to Manitou rapids. The soil is heavy rich clay, slightly rolling and covered with excellent timber. Already some experiments have been made in this regard, and last year one of the engineers on the line ripened oats which he planted on land 110 miles east of The Pas. Apart from this Mr. Boyd declares that there is an abundance of water power in the country traversed by the railway.—Winnipeg Telegram.

FUR FARMING DEVELOPING

Three Companies are Arranging to do Business in British Columbia

Two fur-farming concerns from Eastern Canada have taken out licenses in British Columbia to trap during the summer months for black and silver fox breeding purposes. Both of the companies are in the hands of experienced men who have made a success of fur-farming on Prince Edward Island. A third company is now in process of formation.

The first to apply for a permit was a company in Atlin, known as the Atlin Trading Company. Representatives had previously made a study of conditions in the province, and had decided that the best place to locate the industry was Atlin. A large consignment of wire fencing and other material for the construction of the pens and enclosures was sent up on the Princess May a few weeks ago, and the company has already secured a number of valuable foxes to start with.

The second company to take out a permit is under the control of Messrs. Hyland and Prendergast, two well known men from Prince Edward Island, and is a subsidiary company of one of the successful Prince Edward Island companies.

The third company which is arranging to do business there is to locate at Fort Fraser. A feature of its business will be that it will ranch foxes for other people, under the care of a competent man from Eastern Canada, who has made a study of fox breeding.

Hungarian Pheasants

A shipment of Hungarian pheasants arrived in Calgary from Pennsylvania April 22 and will be liberated on several ranches near Calgary. This has been arranged by Alberta Fish and Game association in the belief that the pheasants will thrive in this province; pheasants have been brought in yearly for the past five years and appear to be multiplying rapidly. Partridges also have been imported and there are now many thousands in Alberta. Pheasants will be protected until 1916 and the association will continue importing them until then.

TO PROTECT THE BIRDS

Treaty Between Canada and United States for Protection of Migratory
Birds Will be Passed Shortly

Early consummation of the proposed treaty between Canada and the United States for the protection of all birds that migrate between the Republic and the Dominion is anticipated by the American Game Protective association.

James B. Burnham, president of the association, draws attention to the fact that on May 12 the United States senate sanctioned an appropriation of $50,000 for the enforcement of the new federal law for the protection of migratory birds. "Very shortly, I hope," he says, "there will come before the senate for ratification a treaty providing protection for the birds that migrate between this country and Canada. For nearly a year now the organization which I represent has been laboring on this matter. Had the appropriation been defeated, it would probably have sounded the death knell of the treaty. Now there is a good prospect of completing the campaign for protection of our migratory birds, covering the entire line of flight of most of the species, which was begun with the organization of the American Game Protective association some two and one-half years ago.

"The senate's action in the present instance," said Mr. Burnham, "is a victory for the people. Wage-earners, farmers, the every day citizen, had just as much at stake as the sportsman for the protection of our insect-eating birds was in jeopardy.

"Victory by the overwhelming vote of 45 to 17 would seem to settle once and for all any contention there may have been regarding the solidarity of the sentiment in this country with regard to the placing of the protection of our migratory species in the hands of the federal government.

"In the hour of victory we are not forgetful of the splendid support given us by the press, the organized conservationists of the country and the almost numberless individuals whose combined efforts alone made the result possible."

DEEP SEA FISHERIES

Dominion Government Investigates
Fisheries in Far North Waters

Some time ago it was announced that the government, now that transportation facilities to Hudson Bay are in sight, would investigate the fisheries of that region to determine their commercial value. For this purpose arrangements have been made to send out at once three parties under experienced and competent men. Two of these parties will go overland from Cochrane. One of the overland parties will investigate the fisheries of the rivers and shores on the west side of James Bay and Hudson Bay and the other will carry out the same work on the east side.

To investigate the deep sea fisheries the schooner Burley with the third party will leave for Hudson Bay as soon as navigation in the straits is open. The party for the east side work will be in charge of J. E. Melville of Edmonton, a member of the fisheries board; that for the west side will be under A. R. M. Lower, a graduate of Toronto university and who has had considerable experience in the north country, while the deep sea fishery investigation will be conducted by Napoleon A. Comeau, who has been in the fisheries department for many years engaged in this work on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

BOUGHT DUKE'S ESTATE

J. W. Stewart, Vancouver Contractor,
Has Some of Sutherland Lands

The Duke of Sutherland has presented a petition to the Scottish courts for leave to complete the sale of the Ayrshire estate, arranged by his father, the late duke, to Mr. J. W. Stewart, the railway contractor of Vancouver, who is the directing partner of Foley, Welch and Stewart, which built the greater part of the mountain section of the Grand Trunk Pacific and is now building the big tunnel for the C.P.R. through the Selkirk. It is understood to be Mr. Stewart's intention to take formal possession of the estate this summer and great preparations for the event are being made by the tenants of the estate.

SIXTH CENTURY RELIC

Statue of Venus From Temple of Apollo in North Africa

A life size statue of Venus has been found by excavators near Cyrena, North Africa, which in the early centuries was the seat of Greek culture. The statue, which dates back to the 6th century—the time of Praxiteles, the celebrated Greek sculptor—is of Parian marble and once stood in the temple of Apollo. The head and arms are missing and the excavators are continuing their search in the hope that they will be found.

The Venus, which is considered a masterpiece of Greek sculpture, will be brought to Rome and placed in the national museum.

Alberta's Silver Foxes

In future black or silver foxes exported from Alberta will pay a tax of $100 each; other varieties of foxes and all other animals, except muskrats, reared on game or fur farms, will be subject to export tax of $15 each and muskrats to $1 per dozen. These export taxes, resultant from heavy demand upon Alberta game for stocking reserves and fur farms in other parts of the country, will tend to retain this important industry in Alberta.

LAND AREA THAT IS NOW CULTIVATED

CANADA'S POSSIBLE FARM LAND
IS 31 PER CENT. OF THE TOTAL

A Comparatively Small Percentage of the Total Land Area of the Nine
Provinces is Yet Under Cultivation,
According to Figures Given by Census Branch Department.

The potential agricultural resources of Canada are indicated by the fact that not more than 2.6 per cent. of the total land area of the nine provinces is now under cultivation. This is one of the interesting statements in a bulletin issued by the census branch of the department of trade and commerce.

The total land area of the nine provinces is placed at 1,401,316,413 acres. The area of farm land occupied in 1911 according to census figures is 109,777,085 acres.

It is estimated that within the boundaries of the nine provinces, as at present constituted, there is a total cultivable area of 440,951,000 acres. This, it will be noted, is only 31 per cent. of the total land area and takes no account of forest and swamp lands which may ultimately be filled, nor of northern areas, of which the agricultural possibilities are at present unknown, because unexplored and unsurveyed.

The total area under cultivation is given as thirty-six million acres. Of this, field crops represent 35,375,000 acres and fruit and vegetable crops 625,000 acres. Only about thirty-three per cent. of the area now occupied as farm land is at present under cultivation, while, as noted above, only 2.6 per cent. of the total land area is occupied for agricultural purposes.

In Prince Edward Island 86.01 per cent. of the total land area is occupied as farm land, while ninety per cent. is estimated as being possible for cultivation. In Nova Scotia 38.83 per cent. is occupied as farm land with 60 per cent. of the total land area possible of cultivation. In New Brunswick 25.36 per cent. of the land area is occupied with 60 per cent. cultivable. In Quebec 3.52 per cent. is occupied with 10 per cent. cultivable. In Ontario 9.37 per cent. is occupied with 25 per cent. cultivable. Manitoba 8.23 and 50; Saskatchewan 18.39 against 60 per cent.; Alberta 10.95 per cent. against 65 per cent.; British Columbia only 11.2 per cent. is occupied with 20 per cent. cultivable.

For all Canada the total land area is given as 1,401,316,413 acres, with 109,777,085 acres or 7.18 per cent. occupied as farm lands. The estimate of possible farm land is given as 440,951,000 acres or 31 per cent. of the total area.

COMETS FORECASTED WARS

Troubles in Mexico and Turkey Were Shown by the Planets

By a strange chance it happens that Kritzinger's comet, which was discovered by a German astronomer of that name at the end of March, is now said to be the astrological "sign" of Capricornus. According to the astrologers the presence of a comet is the sky indicates war and bloodshed or calamities, so the significance is clear.

This fact seems still more striking, when one recalls two other similar instances. In October, 1912, at the time of the outbreak of the Balkan war, which proved so disastrous to Turkey, a new comet was discovered by M. Schaumasse, of the Nice Observatory, situated in the astrological sign of Virgo, which rules the destiny of Turkey. Again, at the end of September, 1911, just as the Turkish-Italian war was started, a bright, naked-eye comet suddenly appeared in the same sign of Virgo, being first seen in Russia by M. Beljowsky.

BUFFALO INCREASE FAST

Government, However, Has Not Been
So Fortunate With Reindeer

The Dominion buffalo herd at Wainwright, Alberta, is increasing so rapidly that the government now has no less than 1,500 animals. When the herd was secured several years ago there were only half this number, and no less than 152 were added by natural increase during the past year alone. This information was given by Hon. Dr. Roche, minister of the interior, during the discussion of his estimates.

However, the attempts of the government to propagate reindeer have not been so successful. Fifty were secured from Labrador a few years ago through the assistance of Dr. Wilfred Grenfell. They were taken to Fort Smith, in the Peace river country, but 17 were lost in transit and others were lost in stampede caused by the annoyance from flies. The government had 11 left. Dr. Roche said they had now multiplied.

Eastern Products to West

For many years Western Canada has drawn farm products from the east, but things now begin to move the other way; recently 4,400 swine were shipped from Alberta to Toronto, and Alberta lambs are also being shipped to Ontario, where they command good prices. For first time in history shipment of Alberta eggs left for Ontario during April. Also in April a carload of fresh butter was sent from Edmonton district to points in the eastern provinces and five carloads of dressed meat are being shipped daily to markets in the United States.

SOLVES ISSUE OF SAFETY FLIGHT

Secret of Machine Being Carefully
Guarded by War Office

It is stated that the British government wishes to maintain the secret of the new safety aeroplane, which is the property of the war department. While this would give a great advantage to the British army aerial service, it is pointed out by some that it would be against the interests of humanity in the conquest of the air.

The king is enthusiastic over the new machine. After witnessing a flight at Aldershot he exclaimed:—"Why haven't you a hundred of these in the army?"

Colonel Seely, secretary of war, in an interview, said the invention of the machine was due to the brains of many men. Four organizations had played a part, namely, the National Physical Laboratory, the Advisory Committee on Aeronautics, the Royal Aircraft factory and experimental fliers.

"The new aeroplane," he said, "is inherently not automatically stable, that is to say stability depends on the shape, not on any mechanical attachments; the secret can be applied to the monoplane as well as to the biplane. The new aeroplane, which is all British and the product of British brains except the engine, has been put to all manner of trials. It has been flown in a gale, flung at air pockets and eddies, banked steeply, and has proved stable in all ways. A novice can quite safely control it in the air but still the greatest problem of all remains to be solved—that of safe landing. I have flown hundreds of miles, and know that this is the one thing that is checking the advance of flying."

Individual Fair Play

In a herd of 12 dairy cows the average yield last year was 3,780 pounds of milk and 144 pounds of fat. The 10 best cows in the district averaged 6,293 pounds of milk and 221 pounds of fat.

When it is seen that the difference in the average of these two groups of 10 cows is 3,475 pounds of milk, while between the best and poorest individual cow there was actually a difference of 6,195 pounds of milk, it is quite evident that figuring out just a cold, dead, machine-like "average" is quite unsuitable and unfair when it comes to dealing with a living, nervous, sensitive cow.

That difference of $61.95 between the earning power of two individual cows indicates the cow's natural rebellion against mere mechanical treatment. Being an animated and complex bundle of her particular likes and dislikes, then her best results will be cheerfully given. She is not simply one of a team, but an individual whose peculiarities are well worth studying to ensure development.

The average may be used in giving due justice to each cow only when all in the herd are equally good. Just as long as these remarkable differences exist between individual cows, there will also remain the need for a record of cost of feed and production of milk of each one separately. Then the herd can be built up on the definite system of each one contributing a good measure of profit; otherwise the deficiencies of several poor cows add to the heavy burden shouldered by the two or three star workers of the team that do make large profits. Dairy records give fair play to each cow and help in judging individual merit.

THE FACEWATCHER

Man Who Never Forget Faces
Criminals Wanted by Police

After sixteen years as a face-watcher, Detective Inspector Bell is retiring from the Liverpool police force. During that time he has stood by the gangways of ships, scrutinizing the passengers as they went on board in search of criminals trying to escape from England.

He has watched the departure of practically every great liner sailing from Liverpool, and it is stated that no person fleeing from justice has ever escaped his vigilance. Every week about thirty descriptions of "wanted" persons were sent to him, and he searched on an average seven vessels containing upwards of 2,000 passengers.

He has filed over 150 memorandum books during the twenty-six years he has been a member of the Liverpool force.

"The method I employ to get descriptions stamped in my memory," exclaimed Detective Bell, "is to copy them out. Once I have written down the details of a person's features I can always remember them."

"I cannot say that I have found my work a particular strain. Experience has shown that criminals wishing to leave the country generally make the attempt within a month of being wanted. That is the period during which a close watch is kept for them, although, of course, a detective who watches ships is always looking for people against whom warrants have been issued, however, old the crime."

Plan For Increased Armament

The government's defence bill which has been introduced in the Swedish parliament, provides for the annual expenditure of 63,000,000 kroner (approximately $15,000,000) for the army and 30,000,000 kroner for the navy.

The new programme for national defence includes the construction of eight battleships of the Sverige type and sixteen destroyers; and also authorizes a new levy for defence purposes, which is expected to realize 75,000,000 kroner. This will be borne to a large extent by the wealthier classes.

MAWSON'S TRIP IS DRAMATICALLY TOLD

NAVIGATING OFFICER OF THE
AURORA TELLS OF FINDING EXPLORER

The First Personal Account Given of the Dramatic Meeting of the Explorer
With the Relief Ship on the Shores of the Antarctic Sea.

The first personal account to reach this country of the voyage of Dr. Mawson's ship Aurora, which relieved the Australian explorer and his party on the conclusion of their two year's work in the Antarctic, has been made public by Percival Gray, navigating officer of the Aurora, who reached England recently.

The Aurora left Hobart on December 19, calling on the way at Macquarie Island to embark the wireless party at that lonely halfway house to the Antarctic and to land reliefs. There was a considerable amount of drift and pack ice, but the vessel pushing her way through heavy drift ice, eventually arrived at Mawson's main base.

"Early in the morning of that day," said Mr. Gray, "in clear and calm weather, we anchored in Commonwealth Bay to relieve those whom last year we had to leave behind in the Antarctic under the dramatic circumstances which are already known. Shortly after our arrival we launched the whale boat in charge of Captain Davis, commander of the Aurora, and landed, rejoicing to find that the seven members of Dr. Mawson's expedition were alive and well. Personally, I had not seen Dr. Mawson since two years previously, and was surprised to find him so fine after the experience he had undergone.

"We were struck with the fact that since we last saw them the party had become almost bald, doubtless owing to the fact that for two years they had been wearing close woollen headgear.

"There was one addition to the base camp which appealed to all of us. It was a large cross, visible far out at sea, which had been erected to the memory of Lieut. Ninnis and Dr. Mertz, both of whom had laid down their lives in the cause of science. Soon after our arrival all the party were taken aboard the Aurora and received a never-to-be-forgotten welcome from the crew of our ship.

"We at once commenced preparations for embarking the stores, specimens, etc., from the base, a work which had to be suspended at intervals owing to the Antarctic blizzards which sprang up. Eventually after eleven days' work, our labors were completed, and the hut only was left. Before leaving, this building was carefully closed, and a message was nailed on the table that Mawson's people had been there."

General Wolfe's Monument

The movement to erect a monument to the memory of General Wolfe is making progress, and a further impetus is given it by Field Marshal Lord Roberts, V.C., who has recently written to F. G. Wade, K.C., at Vancouver (formerly of Winnipeg). The field marshal says that he has long felt that the existing monuments are unworthy of so great a soldier as General Wolfe and Montcalm monument on the Plains of Abraham. He hopes to see just as great and worthy a memorial erected in London. Lord Roberts offers to assist the movement in any way.

About $23,000 has already been subscribed in Canada to the fund for the purpose of erecting, at Greenwich, England, a fitting monument to General Wolfe. Several provincial governments contributed—all told, $4,200—and the balance has been gathered by private subscription in Winnipeg, Toronto and Vancouver. It is hoped that the Dominion government will contribute liberally to the fund. A contribution of $15,000 was asked for two years ago. The Vancouver Canadian club has asked 31 Canadian clubs to assist in the movement, so that the monument may be carried out to completion.

Why Not?

Toronto will abolish the jail and send offenders to a prison farm.

Why not at the same time abolish the barbarous discrimination against the poor by letting a man off who can afford to pay a fine, and sentencing for fifteen or thirty days the man who cannot pay the cash?

Instead of giving a man "time" to serve, why not allow him time to pay?

If a man needs or deserves imprisonment the cash he carries should not buy freedom.

If he does not deserve imprisonment his lack of cash should not make him a criminal.—Toronto Star.

Canadian Nationality

We must calculate in this country upon the coming of a time when we will not regard ourselves as British or Americans, but as Canadians. Side by side, the British settlers and the American settlers will live and labor, fraternize and intermarry, discuss and decide Canadian issues, until the point of view of their mixed offspring will be Canadian and nothing else. And then will come the time when the destiny of Canada will be determined.—Montreal Star.

The great day is no longer coming! It has come and gone. It was last Saturday when Henry Hooper gave a complimentary picnic to all the ladies in general and to one in particular for so his mind was bent. It was a beautiful day and as a host Henry was the last word. He served most delicious refreshments, ice cream, lemonade (with straws), fruits and confections. He took every lady, young and unyoung, for a trip in his trim little launch on Lake Hooper and was so fine and brave a sailor that they did not suffer at all from fright. When the fair company dispersed at a late hour, all the young ladies were openly rejoicing that they still had a chance, while the married ones were thinking with regret that perhaps they had been in too great haste. May sun and wind be tempered to our Henry, may hailstorms pass him by. Long may he wave.

Girls Will Play Local Baseball Team

The All American Girls Baseball Club who are booked to play Didsbury league team on Monday evening, July 13th, is said to be one of the strongest girls team that has ever visited Canada. On June 6th, they beat the best semi-professional team in Winnipeg by a score of 3 to 1. Miss Maud Nelson the pitcher, letting the Winnipeg batters down with four hits. Since coming to Canada they have only lost four games. Each and every girl knows and plays the game like a professional. This club is on its way to the coast where they play all winter and will be featured at the Panama Exposition in 1915. The club comes highly recommended by the press notices they have received. Secretary J. Pirie is to be congratulated in booking this attraction for our town as usually they only play in the larger towns. This game will be the greatest attraction of the season and everybody should turn out and see the game. Game called at 6.45 p.m.

Good Outlook For Didsbury Fair

The general outlook for another successful Fair this year is very bright. The Fair coming as it does on August 27th and 28th will practically be assured of warm weather and the general interest being taken by both country and townspeople in the exhibition by the liberal manner in which they are giving special prizes as special inducements for exhibitors should make the fair a bigger success than ever. Parker R. Reed, the genial Secretary Treasurer of the Agricultural Society states there are now well over thirty special prizes and it is expected that the number will reach fifty. There will be no grain exhibits of any kind at this fair but a special exhibition will be held in the fall for this department.

NEW EVENTS

The new events this year include a parade of all prize winning stock at 4 p.m. on August 28th. This is an entirely new feature and one that will be of great interest to the spectators who will have a good chance to see the stock exhibits.

Another event that should prove of great interest is the special prize for young men in Class 7—Farmers single driver, hitched to buggy to be driven twice around track, style and speed considered, stallions and track horses barred, for which $20 will be given as first prize and $10 for second.

Prizes for the poultry classes have been greatly enlarged and for dairy products they have been doubled.

Prize lists for the exhibition are now in hand and will soon be ready for distribution.
